

Colorado Consolidated Lawyer Self-Assessment Proactive Management-Based Program Subcommittee

The Colorado Lawyer Self-Assessment Program is a voluntary program created to help lawyers with their professional development. It is designed to mitigate risk, elevate competence, and enhance the quality of legal services delivered to clients. It gives you the chance to see what is working and what could be improved when it comes to law firm management and meeting professional obligations. The goal is to prevent problems before they arise. This should allow you to spend more time on cases. While not every question applies to every law practice, and it is ok to skip a question if it does not apply, collectively the following questions give you the opportunity to see how you can better serve clients and run your practice more efficiently. After completing this consolidated self-assessment, you may use the affidavit available on the Lawyer Self-Assessment Program homepage to claim CLE credit for your participation in this program. You can access the program’s homepage through www.coloradosupremecourt.com. Choose the “Lawyer Self-Assessment Program” link on the right. Please note that this consolidated self-assessment references certain educational resources more than once because they address a variety of professionalism topics.

SELF-ASSESSMENT #1 — DEVELOPING COMPETENT PRACTICES

Colo. RPC 1.1 requires lawyers to provide clients competent representation. This includes the requisite legal knowledge, skill, thoroughness, and preparation reasonably necessary for the representation. A lawyer should consider issues of competence when accepting a new matter and when substantively or procedurally expanding an existing matter, e.g., whenever the lawyer addresses a new claim, files counterclaims, identifies other issues not previously considered, when unforeseen issues develop, when interpreting a contract previously drafted or negotiated by the lawyer, or at any point when the procedural course or substantive nature of the matter deviates from that which the lawyer initially envisioned. This self-assessment form provides examples of issues to consider and resources to explore.

SELF-ASSESSMENT #2 — COMMUNICATING IN AN EFFECTIVE, TIMELY, PROFESSIONAL MANNER

Communication problems are a common client complaint seen in the Office of Attorney Regulation Counsel. And when you are the subject of a complaint, your practice suffers. Communicating clearly with your client contributes to a healthy, thriving law practice. Communicating clearly with a client includes ensuring that you receive client communications and engage in mandatory duties of communication.

Colo. RPC 1.4 addresses a lawyer’s duties to communicate with the client. The rule is mandatory, not permissive. Lawyers must communicate with clients about certain things related to the representation and do so in a timely manner. Notably, Colo. RPC 1.4(a) requires the communication of information concerning fees charged, costs, expenses, and disbursements to the client. Moreover, effective January 1, 2022, Colo. RPC 1.5(b) now requires lawyers to communicate the scope of representation in writing to clients. Other communications procedures not mandated by the Rules can nonetheless help prevent client misunderstandings that often lead to ethics complaints. Creating written policies establishing minimum communication standards expected of you, your employees, and your clients goes a long way toward this goal.

SELF-ASSESSMENT #3 — ENSURING THAT CONFIDENTIALITY REQUIREMENTS ARE MET

Colo. RPC 1.6 addresses confidentiality of client information and when disclosure is prohibited or permitted. Confidentiality applies not only to matters communicated in confidence by the client, but to all information relating to the representation, whatever its source. A lawyer may not disclose such information except as authorized or required by the Rules. [Cmt. 3 to Colo. RPC 1.6]. Confidentiality survives the conclusion of the attorney-client relationship.

Many issues regarding disclosure of confidential information are preventable; thus, written policies to educate lawyers and staff, and review of such policies through the following form, will aid in preventing such disclosures. If you do not have a written policy, you still must consider whether you are taking appropriate steps to protect confidences. Technology presents additional issues, which are not always as obvious, and therefore, while preventable, must first be identified as an area of concern.

CONFIDENTIALITY POLICY FOR EMPLOYEES
Do you have written policies for lawyers and support staff explaining duties to preserve client confidences? If not, you may want to develop written policies that include the criteria discussed below. SELF-ASSESSMENT #4 — AVOIDING CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

Why should you care about conflicts? Consider:

- *Fee forfeiture
- *Malpractice claims
- *Disqualification from litigation
- *Discipline

Questionnaire	Yes	No	N/A	Ethical Implications	Other Resources
Do you have a process by which you identify conflicts?				Colo. RPC 1.7 cmt. 2
Have you clearly identified who is, and who is not, the client – particularly for clients who are business entities?				Colo. RPC 1.7 &amp; cmts. 2, 27, 34; Colo. RPC 1.13(a) &amp; cmts. 1-2, 10-11	CBA Formal Ethics Op. 120
Do you have a system for detecting conflicts? Does it include:				Colo. RPC 1.7 cmt. 3; Colo. RPC 5.1(a) &amp; cmt. 2	Mark Bassingthwaite, Watch Out for These Common Conflict of Interest Traps (ALPS Corp.), Mar. 3, 2015.
• Names of clients & matters
• Names of adverse parties
• Names of related parties (witnesses, experts, insurance carriers, family members, co-counsel, opposing counsel, related entities, owners of business entities)
• Names of potential/rejected clients & matters
• Dates matters were active/closed/rejected
• Names of timekeepers who worked on particular matters
Does an attorney (as opposed to a staff person) review each new matter to identify conflicts?				A thorough conflict detection system includes both attorney and staff review of new matters.
Is the conflicts check updated regularly as new parties are identified and new names are added to the system?				Colo. RPC 1.7 cmts. 4, 5

Does the firm use engagement letters and disengagement letters appropriately?			Engagement and disengagement letters clarify whether an attorney-client relationship exists and can help identify potential conflicts of interest with current and former clients.	Mark Bassingthwaighe, Watch Out for These Common Conflict of Interest Traps (ALPS Corp.), Mar. 3, 2015. ## SELF-ASSESSMENT #5 — FILE MANAGEMENT, SECURITY, AND RETENTION

How you organize, manage, and secure client files directly impacts your efficiency and ability to get results for a client. This matters whether it is preparing for trial or timely responding to a client inquiry. Moreover, files often contain confidential client information, critical records, and client-lawyer communications about the objectives of the representation. You need to consider best practices for file management, security, and retention as part of a proactive assessment of your firm’s ethical infrastructure. This is particularly so in today’s digital age where client files are stored and portions shared and transmitted electronically.

Questionnaire	Yes	No	N/A	Ethical Considerations	Other Resources
Client Files
Do you have a standardized filing system for all client files?				“A lawyer’s management of her records must protect the client’s interests . . . must protect the client’s confidences and secrets, and must be governed by the lawyer’s professional judgment . . . .” George C. Cunningham & John C. Montana, The Lawyer’s Guide to Records Management and Retention , AM. BAR ASS’N (2006) at 39	Top 5 Reasons a Document Management Program Is Critical to Law Practice , FindLaw.com, Feb. 10, 2017.
Do you have a file-naming convention for paper and electronic files?				“In the absence of a well-defined and well-executed structure [for file naming], poorly named files . . . are effectively lost.” Cunningham and Montana, supra at 172.	Best Practices for File Naming Conventions in Law Practice , Mass. Law Office Mgmt. Assistance Program, Aug. 13, 2019.  Sam Glover, How to Organize Paperless Client Files , Lawyerist.com, Nov. 25, 2013.
Do you have a policy to ensure electronic and paper copies of files are consistent?				Organized file management comports with an attorney’s duty to safeguard client property.
Do you have a policy (or is it your practice) to ensure all email or text communication with your client is copied to your paper/electronic files?				Copying communications to the file demonstrates your adherence to Colo. RPC Rule 1.4 in communicating with your clients.	Beverly Michaelis, Documenting Email as Part of a Client’s File, Part I , OR. STATE BAR BULLETIN, April 2013.

Do you have a policy for handling originals received from clients?				A log should kept that complies with Colo. RPC 1.15A&D and 1.16A whenever an attorney receives property from a client.
Do you log or document receipt of original documents from a client?				Documenting receipt of original documents is consistent with an attorney's fiduciary obligations under Colo. RPC 1.15A, D & 1.16A.
Do you scan and return originals or retain them?				If you retain originals, you should consider a policy for their eventual return to the client. Colo. RPC 1.15A & D; and Rule 1.16A.
Do you have a file-retention policy that complies with Colo. RPC 1.16A ? It should include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Notifying clients of how long their files will be maintained at the conclusion of the matter.</li> <li>• Procedures to retain certain criminal defense files for the periods of time set forth in Colo. RPC 1.16A(c).</li> <li>• Retaining files for a period of 10 years after the representation ends if the client has not otherwise received the file or consented to its destruction.</li> </ul>				Written policies and fee agreements should contain terms that comply with the notice requirements of Colo. RPC 1.16A .	See Comments to Colo. RPC 1.16A . CBA Ethics Op. 104, Surrender of Papers to the Client Upon Termination of the Representation (1999, rev'd 2018).
Does your policy also account for your obligations under C.R.C.P. 121, § 1-26(7)?				Attorneys must maintain a signed original for 2 years for all E-filed documents per C.R.C.P. 121, § 1-26(7).
Maintaining File Security

Do you have a system to track or limit access to files by members of your staff?				Tracking or limiting access protects client confidentiality.	Christopher Anderson & Dan Barahona, When “Secure Enough” Isn’t Enough: A Law Firm Guide to Protecting the Confidentiality of Client Files (LexisNexis), 2013, at p. 13.
Is your office secure? ○ Are your paper files kept in a secured cabinet or secured within your office? ○ Are they protected from flood/fire/vermin?
Does your firm have adequate data back-up procedures for all firm and all client data?				Data back-up is essential to avoiding losing a file or your work product in the event of a cyber-security breach, fires, flood, etc.
Do you have encryption policies in place to address transmission via email of medical records, financial records, or other highly confidential materials?				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Colo. RPC 1.6(c)</li> <li>• Colo. RPC 1.6, cmt. 19</li> </ul>	Standing Comm. on Ethics &amp; Prof'l Resp., Am. Bar Ass'n, Ethics Op. 11-459 Duty to Protect the Confidentiality of E-mail Communications with One's Client (2011). Holly Urban, Prioritizing Cybersecurity to Protect Client Information from Data Breaches, L. TECH. TODAY, Jan. 3, 2019.
Do you have the time and expertise to oversee technology, including security, in order to properly maintain files?				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• “It is the responsibility of the lawyer delivering legal services online—not the hosting company, the software provider . . . or any other entity—to ensure that . . . the practice complies with the high ethical standards required by the lawyer’s law license.” Stephanie L. Kimbro, Virtual Law Practice, AM. BAR ASS’N, 2010, p. 133.</li> <li>• If you do not have a designated technology compliance officer, you may consider hiring someone to assist with this task.</li> </ul>	Kendra Albert, Computer Security Tools &amp; Concepts for Lawyers, 20 GREEN BAG 2D 127 (2017). Mary Ellen Egan, Cyberthreats 101: The Biggest Computer Crime Risks Lawyers Face, ABA J., Mar. 1, 2018.

Do you have a training system in place for employees and staff with respect to file systems, computer usage, email, and internet usage?				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Staff training should emphasize that proper file management is critical to protecting client confidences and property.</li> </ul>
Network / Hardware Security
Do you have adequate physical security protection for the computer hardware used in the operation of your firm's network?				<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Secure hardware reduces the chance that confidential information stored or accessed electronically will be compromised.</li> <li>• Colo. RPC 1.6(c)</li> </ul>
Do you enforce software updates, including updating patches and antivirus software?				Client information and files stored electronically receive better protection from viruses and potential cybersecurity breaches through regular software updates.	Holly Urban, Prioritizing Cybersecurity to Protect Client Information from Data Breaches , L. TECH. TODAY, Jan. 3, 2019.
Do you utilize a wireless computer network or "open" or "wi-fi" networks not controlled by your firm? If so, have you taken adequate steps to protect the confidentiality of client information through those networks?				Client information that you transmit or access through open networks could be vulnerable to inadvertent disclosure.
Do you make sure your own firm internet is secure through the use of an encrypted in-house wi-fi and encrypted guest wi-fi network?				Allowing guests to freely use your internal wi-fi network could compromise client confidences.
Do you use smart phones or other portable digital devices in your practice? If so, are those devices adequately configured to protect from a loss or breach the confidentiality of information stored on or accessible through the phone or other digital device (such as USB drives, portable storage devices)?				Colo. RPC 1.6(c)	Pem Guerry, Why Remote Security Is a Must , L. TECH. TODAY, Jan. 12, 2017.

Do you or your firm conduct periodic cyber-security testing?				Periodic testing, such as conducting vulnerability assessments, identifies cyber security procedures that need improvement.	Tom Kulik, Cybersecurity, Confidentiality, and Your Ethical Obligations to Your Clients (Part II) , ABOVE THE LAW, Nov. 26, 2018. ## SELF-ASSESSMENT #7 — CHARGING APPROPRIATE FEES AND MAKING APPROPRIATE DISBURSMENTS

Except in circumstances where a lawyer has previously represented a client, a lawyer is required to communicate to a client the base and rate of a fee in writing. Colo. RPC 1.5. It is in the interest of both the lawyer and client to have this communication take the form of a formal written fee agreement signed by both. This protects both the client and the lawyer. In considering what provisions such an agreement should contain, counsel should consider the following questions:

Questionnaire	Yes	No	N/A	Ethical Considerations	Other Resources
Have you identified the client properly?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>If the client is an entity, does the person with whom you are dealing have the authority to bind the client?</li> </ul>

SELF-ASSESSMENT #8 — ENSURING THAT RELIABLE TRUST ACCOUNT PRACTICES ARE IN USE

Lawyers must establish a trust account if they accept fees from clients for work they have not yet performed or for expenses not yet incurred. In addition, lawyers who receive client settlement funds or hold a third party’s funds as part of a legal representation must have a trust account. The obligation to establish a trust account springs from an attorney’s fiduciary duty to clients and third parties and the related duty to safeguard property belonging to others. Under the Colorado Rules of Professional Conduct, lawyers have to keep funds that belong to clients or third persons separate from the lawyer’s own property. This includes separate from the lawyer’s business or personal accounts.

Lawyers can find the rules pertaining to trust account management at Colo. RPC 1.15A – 1.15E. These rules cover trust account issues ranging from record keeping, to who may withdraw funds, to when account reconciliation must occur.

Proper trust account management is essential to an ethical, professional practice. The following self-assessment contains questions that lawyers required to have a trust account should consider in managing and maintaining such an account.

SELF-ASSESSMENT #9 — ACCESS TO JUSTICE AND CLIENT DEVELOPMENT

An important part of the administration of justice in our state is ensuring that people of all economic levels and geographic locations have access to not only the courts, but to competent, licensed professional legal assistance. This self-assessment form is designed to help lawyers evaluate their practices and procedures relating to this important principle. Because tackling the justice gap necessarily involves reaching out to underserved communities, we also provide guidelines concerning client development.

Access to Justice: Lawyers have a duty to promote and protect the public interest. One of the most significant issues currently facing consumers of legal services is meaningful access to justice. For purposes of this assessment, we are defining “access to justice” as a concept much broader than access to the courts and litigation. It encompasses a recognition that everyone is entitled to the protection of the law. It is about protecting ordinary and vulnerable people and solving their problems. Improving access to justice in Colorado requires leadership and change that reaches well beyond the traditional construct of legal aid. The responsibility must also fall to law firms and other for-profit legal organizations to look inward at what they might do themselves to better meet their obligations to promote and protect the public interest. Encouraging pro bono or other volunteer work, as well as exploring alternative fee arrangements and limited scope retainers (where appropriate and permitted), are examples of some tangible steps that firms can take to do their part to close the justice gap.

Additionally, lawyers and law firms should explore how they interact with self-represented parties. One aspect of the access to justice crisis in Colorado is that legal services have become increasingly expensive, and are unaffordable for many of those who have a need for legal services. This has resulted in a large number of self-represented parties. Studies show that a significant number of self-represented litigants have complaints about the opposing counsel with whom they interact. On the other hand, many lawyers report challenges in communicating or negotiating with self-represented litigants. This suggests, at the very least, that lawyers need more information and training to assist them in dealing with self-represented litigants.

Client Development: Client development and access-to-justice issues are closely tied together. When law firms are willing to retain clients using alternative fee structures and limited scope representation, more people are aware of and able to access legal services, while lawyers expand their books of business and diversify revenue streams. This is a classic example of a win-win. Providing legal services at reduced rates for low-income clients, adopting alternate billing models, and providing unbundled services are all examples of ways that lawyers can both bridge the justice gap, as well as develop new clients.

Questionnaire	Yes	No	N/A	Suggested Systems & Practices	Resources
Objective 1: Creating an efficient business structure that has room for alternative operational strategies aimed at reducing expenses and improving long-term sustainability.
Have you carefully considered your monthly expenses and overhead, and have you considered ways to reduce your expenses such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-office sharing</li> <li>-alternative office space</li> <li>-phone service</li> <li>-investigator pricing</li> <li>-staff</li> <li>-supplies/equipment</li> </ul>				A law firm can incur sizable expenses and overhead. There are numerous ways to gradually build and manage infrastructure in the effort to keep costs more manageable. Low expenses and overhead means that less money is needed to be profitable and sustainable. Likewise, with tools (such as a state-of-the-art case management system), lawyers and law firms can achieve greater efficiency. This may reduce the need for additional staff (which in turn reduces overhead). This may also free up an attorney's time and provide a financial cushion that allows the attorney to take on pro-bono and modest means cases. If you are a solo lawyer just starting out, sharing office space will allow you to pool resources, save money and ease the isolation of practicing alone. But before entering into an office sharing arrangement with another lawyer, it is imperative that you know exactly what you can and cannot share, whether it be rent, computers—or even clients. Lawyers should also be mindful that sharing office arrangements with non-lawyers is a separate issue that subjects lawyers to distinct ethics requirements.	Randall Ryder, How to Keep Your Solo Practice Sustainable and Lean, Lawyerist.com, March 25, 2016. Jenny B. Davis, Designing Your Law Office to Save Money and Boost Productivity--Without Sacrificing Style, ABA J., July 1, 2014. Kathryn Thompson, Keeping Your Office Sharing Arrangements with Other Lawyers Squeaky Clean Under the Ethics Rules, ABA CTR. FOR PROF'L RESP., May 2007.
Do you use technology to increase your efficiency and increase your ability to provide legal services at a lower cost/hourly fee?				Computer programs – such as for timekeeping, case management, etc., can increase productivity and reduce manual hours spent (and reduce stress).	Dean R. Dietrich, Handling Clients' Text Messages, WIS. LAWYER, April 2016.

Objective 2 - Having an effective office set-up that is conducive to providing services to a broader population.
Do you have a plan to promote cultural competency in your office? Does that plan include recruitment practices that consider diversity as relevant to the effort to promote access to justice?				Consider training to help attorneys and staff develop strategies for dealing with non-English speaking clients, low-income clients, and clients who may have had prior bad experiences with the justice system. Develop training to help attorneys effectively reach out to underserved populations who may not be aware of the nature of the American legal system. Also consider setting up appropriate expectations and practices – including hiring – that will allow the office to be responsive to the community. Diversity is a legitimate consideration in this regard.	N. Y. C. BAR ASS'N MINORITIES IN THE PROFESSION COMM., BEST PRACTICES STANDARDS FOR THE RECRUITMENT, RETENTION, DEVELOPMENT, AND ADVANCEMENT OF RACIAL/ETHNIC MINORITY ATTORNEYS.
Does your firm have bilingual staff and/or access to interpreter/translator services				Hiring bilingual staff and/or providing interpreter/translator services will aid the office in outreach and service to non-English speaking, or English-as-a-second-language clients.
Do you provide formal or informal training to help staff interact with the public and potential clients?				Training is important for attorneys and staff alike. Simple tasks such as answering phones, responding to inquiries from clients, potential clients, and pro se parties are some of the office's most important PR. Likewise, lawyers should keep in mind that these interactions are sometimes a person's first encounter with the legal system--make sure it is a positive and respectful one.
Do you provide alternatives for clients with less ability to travel (such as to your office and/or normal work site) and/or potential clients who need off-hour meetings?				Potential clients and clients might not have the ability and/or flexibility to leave their work during business hours. Does the firm have a way of meeting with these people? These same individuals might not have transportation options. Is there a way to accommodate them?	Consider: telephone meetings, Skype or Facetime, home visits, meeting at a local library or other place (be cautious about client confidentiality when meeting in public).

Objective 3 – Implementing alternative billing arrangements in order to bring in business and bridge the justice gap.				It is important that strategies and practices are in place that help the firm think broadly about taking diverse clients who might otherwise be unable to access an attorney. This includes actually visiting and getting to know unfamiliar areas.	Justice Index 2016 , National Center for Access to Justice, Fordham Law School.
Do you use alternative pay arrangements based on income level?				These can include, for example, payment plans, reduced fees, sliding scale fees & “modest means” fee structures, unbundled services, and pro-bono
Have you considered providing limited scope representation, i.e. unbundled services?				It is important to remember obligations in both state and federal court. A clear letter laying out the limitations of the representation is also crucial. Also see Colo. RPC 1.2.	INST. FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE AM. LEGAL SYS., UNBUNDLING LEGAL SERVICES: A GUIDE FOR LAWYERS (2015). HON. ADAM ESPINOSA, AMY GOSCHA, JAMES GARTS, HON. DANIEL TAUBMAN, AND DANAÉ D. If you are not able to take a client, do you direct them to resources for modest means and indigent clients?				As part of providing access to justice for individuals who are confronted with a legal problem, it is important to think about whether simply saying “no” is the optimal answer. It is important to remember the opportunity to redirect a person to the right resources for their situation.	Colorado Legal Services Denver Bar Association Legal Clinics and Free Legal Information Colorado Judicial Branch Self-Help Center

Objective 4: The Firm or Lawyer Provides Pro-Bono and other Volunteer Services
Do you take on pro bono work and encourage other attorneys in the firm to do so as well?				Pro bono and other volunteer activity in the community is encouraged by the law firm and taken into account in performance evaluations (for example, billable hour credits are provided or annual goals are set). <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• A written pro bono policy is in place.</li> <li>• You are required to participate in pro bono work.</li> <li>• Your entity encourages pro bono work.</li> <li>• Pro bono hours “count” toward billable hour targets.</li> <li>• You spend the appropriate amount of time with the client and are empathetic.</li> <li>• Consideration of Colo. SCH.
Objective 5 - Using Effective Client Development Strategies to Increase Business and Bridge the Justice Gap
Do you have a marketing strategy?				Lawyers should make efforts to be a part of the legal and non-legal community. One way to do this is to network with a local bar association or other legal groups. Lawyers may want to use social media and internet marketing to reach out to non-traditional legal consumers. Lawyers who provide low cost or alternative fee services should emphasize these services in their marketing. Websites and other marketing material should be user friendly and understandable. A marketing strategy might target underserved populations by emphasizing the firm’s commitment to alternative fee arrangements, modest means clients, and unbundled services.	SUCCESSFUL BUSINESS PLANNING: REPRESENTING THE MODERATE INCOME CLIENT, COLO. Questionnaire	Yes	No	N/A	Suggested Systems & Practices	Resources
Are you actively involved in the Colorado Bar Association and/or a local bar association and/or specialty bar association?				The Bar Association can help lawyers find pro-bono resources and other valuable resources for working with modest means or indigent clients.	Colorado Bar Association (CBA) Local Bar Associations (CBA)
Do you have a website and/or do you use internet tools for marketing?				Use the internet to reach out to new clients. A good website can bring in business. The website could provide concrete information about fees and billing. Websites can also clearly explain the firm's commitment to alternative fee structures, modest means, and unbundled services.	Steve Olenski, The 7 Lethal Internet Marketing Mistakes Law Firms Make , FORBES, Mar. 5, 2015.
Do you market in nontraditional ways and reach out to underserved legal markets?				Consider advertising in diverse publications and neighborhoods. Consider advertising in languages other than English. Further, Colorado is a big state with many potential clients who need services that live outside the Front Range metropolitan areas.
Objective 6 - The Firm evaluates success in providing access to justice.
Do you track and evaluate the demographics of clients and where clients are from?				It is important to consider tools to be strategic in advertising, not just reactive. Data collection, for planning purposes, is crucial.
Do you conduct interviews with clients at the end of representation to evaluate how they feel they have been treated in the legal system?				A satisfied client, and a client who understands what happened and why, is one who will leave with a sense of justice. That client will also refer other clients to the lawyer, even if the client "lost." This is because, as Maya Angelou said, "people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel."
Do you or your law firm periodically review your success in reaching out to underserved populations?					Marc Davis, Paying Off , ABA J., June 2018.

SELF-ASSESSMENT #10 — WELLNESS AND INCLUSIVITY

Today’s lawyer demands a better lifestyle that embraces work/life balance and diversity. In 2015, the ABA Commission on Lawyer Assistance Programs and the Hazelden-Betty Ford Foundation conducted a study involving approximately 11,400 actively practicing layers from 19 states. The study revealed that approximately 21% of the lawyers qualified as problem drinkers, 28% struggle with depression, and 19% demonstrate symptoms of anxiety. The study also revealed that nearly one third of the lawyers with these issues are less than 30 years of age and have practiced less than 10 years.

Meanwhile, attraction and retention of quality staff is a challenge due to the reduction in law school attendance, aging in the profession, and 21st century changing technology. Diversity is when you count people; inclusiveness is when you make people count. You need both to have sustainable diversity in your firm/organization. Studies show that to increase staff retention, it is better to keep staff happy, healthy, engaged, and motivated.

This assessment presents a series of questions designed to help you evaluate whether your practice promotes wellness and inclusivity. For resources, the Colorado Lawyer Assistance Program (COLAP) offers Colorado attorneys confidential assistance for any career-related challenge. This could include coping with work stress, anxiety, succession planning, support in grieving a loss, or confronting substance use issues. COLAP has a confidential assistance line and its website, <http://coloradolap.org/>, features links to resources, lists of support groups, and articles on wellness issues. Meanwhile, the Center for Legal Inclusiveness, which is dedicated to “actively educating and supporting private and public sector legal organizations in their own individual campaigns to create cultures of inclusion,” provides support for attorneys looking to enhance diversity in their practice. The Center for Legal Inclusiveness promotes networking to connect attorneys with other attorneys to build career satisfaction and success. Its social media pages offer updates on diversity and inclusivity issues on a local and national level and may be found at <https://centerforlegalinclusiveness.org/>.

Mentoring is also a solution to isolationism in the profession as it breaks down organizational silos while also creating vital emotional stewardship. Mentoring relationships provide a safe space to discuss feelings, connect lawyers to resources that build resiliency, and offer peace of mind personally and professionally. That emotional support is vital as lawyers do their best to navigate a demanding profession. Mentoring has also been championed as a proven method to implement diversity and inclusion goals, close opportunity gaps, and retain lawyers within the profession.

The Colorado Attorney Mentoring Program (CAMP) generates meaningful and relevant mentoring relationships through 15 formal and informal mentoring programs. CAMP also hosts educational speaking engagements for community partners across the state and produces monthly in-house professional development webinars through uniquely tailored CLE courses spanning topics related to professionalism & wellness. To learn more or to connect with CAMP visit www.coloradomentoring.org.

Part A: Well-Being

	Yes	No
Do you believe your firm/organization recognizes the important role your well-being plays in your professional success?
Does your firm/organization have supportive procedures in place for modifying workload and/or offering other support to lawyers/staff who may be dealing with an issue (personal or professional) that is impacting their well-being?

Do you have a mentor, trusted colleague, family, or friend that you can turn to for support in the event you experience a personal or practice difficulty (or both) and need support?
Do you recognize the importance of balancing personal and professional needs? Have you implemented a plan to facilitate work-life balance in your law practice?
Do you take steps to keep stress associated with the practice of law at a minimum? These may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Drinking enough water.</li> <li>• Eating food that is nourishing to your body.</li> <li>• Practicing healthy sleep hygiene (e.g., prioritizing your sleep, going to bed at the same time, no blue light for an hour before bed, etc.).</li> <li>• Engaging in regular physical activity, including incorporating frequent movement into your work schedule.</li> <li>• Spending time with family and friends with no work interruptions.</li> <li>• Planning and taking time off where you do not engage with your work.</li> <li>• Shutting off work email/notifications in the evenings and on the weekends when possible.</li> <li>• Reading a book that is not work related.</li> <li>• Taking time to disconnect from technology.</li> <li>• Volunteering through community service organizations or pro bono work.</li> <li>• Practicing yoga, deep breathing, or meditation.</li> <li>• Learning something new or starting a new hobby.</li> </ul>
If you find yourself becoming stressed or anxious, are you familiar with simple techniques to quickly reduce stress such as those listed here? Science indicates that each of these has a calming effect on our nervous system, literally changing the chemicals going through our bodies to facilitate a decrease in stress and an increase in relaxation. Some examples include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Taking three deep breaths.</li> <li>• Taking a walk.</li> <li>• Visualizing yourself in a calming environment.</li> <li>• Placing one hand on your upper chest, one on your abdomen, and taking a few deep breaths to activate calming neurotransmitters.</li> <li>• Saying to yourself: “I have the resources to deal with this” to activate parts of the brain associated with problem solving.</li> <li>• Turning on an uplifting/motivating song and humming, singing, or dancing along.</li> </ul>
Does your firm/organization have policies and procedures that support well-being, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Taking breaks throughout the day.</li> <li>• Taking planned and uninterrupted vacations or mental health days.</li> <li>• Offering family and parental leave.</li> <li>• Offering flexibility in work schedules and work location.</li> </ul>

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Offering options other than the billable hour model.</li> <li>• Offering a relaxation space in the office.</li> <li>• Encouraging walking meetings when appropriate.</li> <li>• A focus on respectful and inclusive communication and collaboration.</li> </ul>
Does your firm/organization regularly offer and encourage attendance at well-being focused educational programs during regular business hours?
Does your firm/organization's work environment promote a healthy lifestyle, for example, ergonomically correct workstations, work breaks, walking paths, and access to healthy food & drink choices?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does your management encourage these options?</li> </ul>
Does your firm/organization have appropriate referrals for programs, such as those provided by COLAP, to assist with potential substance use disorders (e.g., alcohol, cocaine, marijuana, prescription pills) and process addictions (e.g., gambling, sex, food, work)?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are supervisors, managers and mentors within your firm/organization equipped with this information so that it is readily available when needed?</li> </ul>
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are all staff made aware of available resources in the community?</li> </ul>
Does the firm/organization have a dedicated budget for well-being initiatives?
Is your firm/organization aware of and leveraging well-being resources available through your insurance carrier(s) and/or employee assistance program?
Do you need support in improving your stress management or work-life balance?
Do you know what resources are available to you for improving your work-life balance?

Part B: Diversity/Inclusiveness

	Yes	No
Does your firm/organization value the need for creating a more diverse, inclusive, equitable, and anti-racist workplace?
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does this value tie in with your firm/organization's business imperatives and strategies?</li> </ul>
Have you taken steps to increase your awareness of implicit bias and other barriers that affect those underrepresented in the legal profession? Consider Project Implicit's free, online assessments at https://implicit.harvard.edu/implicit/aboutus.html .
Engage in a "Cultural Competency" analysis to assess which groups with which you feel comfortable, or have a natural affinity, and take steps to understand, communicate with and effectively interact with people or groups that fall outside that list. Consider "The Five Habits of Cross-Cultural Lawyering" at https://fivehabitsandmore.law.yale.edu/jean-and-sues-materials/habits/
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• As part of such an assessment, acknowledge that these steps may lead you to feeling uncomfortable and fearful of saying or doing something that may offend others but that you become comfortable once you get past the "uncomfortable."</li> </ul>

Develop a robust and substantive Diversity, Equity, &amp; Inclusion initiative within your organization. In developing this initiative, consider including the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Create a position dedicated to improving and sustaining diversity, inclusion, and equity within the organization</li> <li>• Develop a Diversity &amp; Inclusion Action Plan</li> <li>• Develop a Racial Justice/Anti-Racism Action Plan</li> <li>• Include diversity, inclusion, and equity goals in the organization’s business or strategic plan</li> <li>• Create ongoing programming and educational opportunities for lawyers regarding implicit bias</li> <li>• Evaluate institutional barriers to the success of women and diverse lawyers and create a plan to remedy those barriers</li> <li>• Survey employees on organizational culture, lawyer autonomy, and morale</li> <li>• Participate in the Colorado Pledge to Diversity to introduce your organization to talented law students from traditionally underrepresented backgrounds and provide summer clerkship opportunities to diverse law students. Visit https://coloradoplege.com/ for more information on joining The Pledge.</li> </ul>
Does your firm/organization regularly review the compensation structure to ensure that it provides equal advancement opportunities for all employees? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• As part of this assessment, consider modifying the compensation structure to incentivize participation in diversity, inclusion, equity, and anti-racism education and initiatives.</li> <li>• Directly offer or support lawyers in attending business development symposia or other educational opportunities specifically designed for women and traditionally underrepresented lawyers.</li> </ul>
Has your firm/organization devised measures to evaluate diversity, equity, anti-racism, and inclusion initiatives and to ensure accountability? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Are these measures transparent and made available/reported to employees at least annually?</li> </ul>
Has your firm/organization identified a person, department and/or committee to monitor your diversity/inclusiveness/equity/anti-racism efforts? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Does everyone in the firm/organization have a role in its success?</li> </ul>
Does the firm/organization have a dedicated budget to support diversity/inclusiveness efforts? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Consider joining the Center for Legal Inclusiveness to provide your employees with access to diversity, inclusion, and equity training, resources, and events. Visit https://centerforlegalinclusiveness.org/ for more information on joining CLI.</li> </ul>
Has the firm/organization implemented training sessions for employees that focus on issues related to diversity/inclusiveness/equity/anti-racism?
Has the firm/organization created an effective and sustainable internal mentoring and sponsorship program for women and diverse lawyers? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Utilize the resources of the Colorado Attorney Mentoring Program to assist in developing these programs or improving current internal mentoring and sponsorship programs. Visit www.coloradomentoring.org for more information on the CAMP program.</li> </ul>

If you are a solo practitioner, creating a diverse and inclusive workplace may not seem important given the size of the work setting. However, solo practitioners have a role to play in creating a diverse, inclusive, and equitable legal profession. Have you developed an “Individual Action Plan” consisting of meaningful engagement activities that you can undertake as an individual in the legal community? In creating this Action Plan consider including the following:

- Develop a mentor relationship with an attorney, law school graduate, or law student of a diverse background.
- Mentor a high school student, college student, or paralegal interested in pursuing a career in law.
- Invite an attorney from an underrepresented group to a bar program and/or event and introduce him/her/them to your colleagues.
- Speak with an attorney from an underrepresented group about the benefits of bar membership.
- Encourage and support an attorney from an underrepresented group to pursue a leadership position within the profession.
- Recommend an attorney from an underrepresented group to speak at a CLE event.
- Attend one or more conferences, programs, or CLE seminars on diversity-related topics.
- Attend one or more multicultural events.
- Attend one or more programs and/or events sponsored by a diversity bar association: Colorado Women’s Bar Association, Colorado Hispanic Bar Association, Sam Cary Bar Association, LGBT Bar Association of Colorado, South Asian Bar Association of Colorado, Asian Pacific American Bar Association of Colorado.
- Read an article or a book about diversity, inclusivity, and equity.
- Write an article about diversity, inclusivity, and equity for a bar publication.
- Read an article about how generational differences may impact communication styles, motivation for success, and work values.
- Volunteer for a non-profit agency that serves an underrepresented community.
- Seek out an event or a function where you will be in the minority.
